It's hard to flip on the TV or get online without hearing about semaglutide (the active ingredient for Wegovy/Ozempic or tirzepatide the active ingredient in Mounjaro, considered the new "wonder drugs" for weight loss. Name brands like Ozempic, Wegovy and Mounjaro get tossed around on social media, but what exactly is it? How does it work? What kind of results can patients expect? To get the skinny on this trending weight loss medication, Missouri Medical Clinic in Osage Beach wants to answer Lake area visitors' and residents' questions so they can begin their weight loss journey to a healthier, more active lifestyle.

Curt and Carol Fischer, the owners of Missouri Medical Clinic, opened their doors in December of 2022, just a few months after the semaglutide compound first was approved to be made. They were met with an overwhelmingly positive response from the community.

Missouri Medical Clinic offers a doctor-prescribed semaglutide compound. These are weekly injections. The team instructs patients exactly how to administer the injections themselves, from the privacy of their home.

Missouri Medical Clinic celebrates with their patients as they improve their overall health by shedding those stubborn pounds.

“As they lose weight, we see the joy in our patients’ eyes because they haven’t had success like this before,” Carol said. “The medication works by targeting GLP-1 receptors in the brain to regulate appetite and food intake. It also mimics the action of the natural GLP-1 hormone by increasing insulin release and delaying the stomach emptying. This controls appetite and helps to reduce food consumption.”

"Patients do not get as hungry, and they eat and think about food less, along with experiencing reduced cravings. The simple end-result is losing weight. Millions of people are having the same success using it." When Ozempic was approved by the FDA for weight loss, the manufacturer Novo Nordisc started calling the weight loss version semaglutide-Wegovy. Many celebrities including Oprah all started touting the same thing. It was easy, and the results were hard to argue with.

"The obesity problem in the US is at epidemic proportions. This medication is a game-changer for our patients. It is not only effective for weight loss, but GLP1 class of drugs are beneficial the heart and other organs" Carol noted.

"I am a registered nurse, and we have two daughters that are nurses and one daughter who is a doctor. Along with our sister-in-law Carol Hoette, our office manager, we are a local family business with medical backgrounds. We know the problem is massive and demand is great for this proven, safe medication."

Ozempic originated as a treatment for patients with type 2 diabetes way before it was approved by the FDA June 4, 2021, to help patients fight obesity. So, there was already research data and a track record. Just over a year prior to Missouri Medical Clinic treating patients, the FDA approved the generic compound semaglutide specifically for weight loss if made in the USA and FDA approved compounding pharmacies.

"We see imported Chinese powder all over the Internet, spas, and even other clinics... This is exactly why our patients like dealing with a real brick and mortar clinic and people they can get to know and connect with for answers when needed," Carol explained. "We often monitor texts and Facebook questions or comments after hours. All compounds are not equal. We provide safer and stronger semaglutide and tirzepatide generic compounds."

"There is a world-wide shortage of Ozempic right now," Curt said. "By offering the generic compound, that the FDA has approved to be made, we can help with this name brand shortage. Fewer people will be chasing after the brand name medication that Type-2 diabetics need. Insurance companies are paying as high as $1600/month for their insured diabetics to be on Ozempic and Mounjaro. Unfortunately, that is exactly how Big Pharma works.”

"The compound is helping fill this shortage which directly benefits our weight loss patients with a cost-effective alternative to the expensive brands Ozempic, Mounjaro diabetic meds and Wegovy and Zepbound, their weight loss product equivalents. The active ingredients are either semaglutide or tirzepatide. The name brand shortages are not for the actual medication but rather the two pharmaceutical companies just cannot keep up with the demand. So, the fat shaming trolls on the internet and our Facebook page who are criticizing taking the compounded medication for weight loss are totally missing the point of who needs this miracle drug. Obesity is a disease and the number one cause of Type 2 diabetes.”

While insurance does not cover semaglutide or tirzepatide compounds for weight loss, Missouri Medical Clinic offers the semaglutide compound treatment for under $300 on a month-month plan and even lower than $200 for multi-milliliter (multi-month) vials. There is Free 0% financing available on their website so people can take advantage of the volume discounts they offer.

“Our patients can expect to drop between 7-10 pounds per month as a rule of thumb, though some lose much more than that,” Fischer said. “We had a female patient lose 26 pounds in one month, which was really exciting.”

“We like to see patients in person, if possible, because when patients are approved as a candidate for the medication, they can start their injections that same day in the office,” Curt said.

“Once patients start their injections, they start to lose weight. This medication helps people keep their blood sugar down, preventing them from becoming diabetics. Obesity is the number one cause of Type 2 diabetes,” Curt said, adding, “Considering the magnitude, and growing numbers of obesity and diabetes in this country, this really is a miracle drug that benefits millions of people for both chronic diseases. We are here to provide an affordable and effective conduit to getting people back to their favorite old weight set-points with compassion, understanding and care.”
